

Come Break My Heart Again

The Lone Bellow

She said you smell like cigarettes
Just like the one I left
You never comb your hair
I always make your bed

She said we should stop the talk
I did a few weeks ago
You're like a land mine lost
I don't know where you'll explode

Come break my heart again
So I can feel it
I think you need it
I know you mean it
Come break my heart again
So I can feel it
I think you need it
Come and break my heart again

She said all your words are wrong
They just fall off your tongue
It's like you can't be caught
It's like I can't be found

She said you're the luckiest
And you should be real proud
When you get real loud
It's just the sweetest sound

Come break my heart again

So I can feel it
I think you need it
I know you mean it
Come break my heart again
So I can feel it
I think you need it
Come and break my heart again

And I won't be happier
Than when you leave the room
Watching you slam the door
Makes all the wrong feel good

Come break my heart again
So I can feel it
I think you need it
I know you mean it
Come break my heart again
So I can feel it
I think you need it
I know you mean it
Come break my heart again
Come and break my heart again

Come break my heart again
So I can feel it

I think you need it
I know you mean it
Come break my heart again
So I can feel it
I think you need it
I know you mean it