Cockermouth

The Mekons

You take the high I'll take the low Off through the gorse and brambles Far off the road and far from home I ramble

A hornets' nest lies on the track Its half formed larvae scattered A workers cottage broken down And left in shambles

Leave the path strike out alone Up on the ridge I ramble Back to the wind face wet with rain Above the fields of cattle

High in the ferns I find a scull I see the flashing shadows Jet fighters swooping loud and low Rehearse for Armageddon

You don't have to believe in the end You have to believe this is the end

Over the hills and far away All through the day I ramble I rock 'n' roll in standing stones With Brian Jones I ramble

You don't have to believe in the end You have to believe this is the end

Strike out alone -- I ramble I lose my way -- I ramble I lose my clothes -- I ramble On to the end -- I ramble Back in time -- I ramble All left behind -- I ramble H. D. Thoreau -- I ramble Nowhere to go -- I ramble
