The Menzingers

The glob of cherry tips are dancing in the streets Left like the world where man and soul meet Well the clergy's left jobless, the judge been replaced With varicose laughter and unending face So long Ohio It's been short and sweet We'll see you again where man and soul meet And say hi to Virgina it's been months since our meet And tell James I'll carry his torch for week Cause I've got a purpose and I've got a place This four wheels this hunger and the saving grace I know the righteous one I saw him staring back at me and I know the righteous one I found him waiting by the sea I know the righteous one I saw his working caveat to follow me, to follow me. So long Ohio It's been short and sweet We'll see you again where man and soul meet
