

Cries And Whispers

The Motels

Come to me, I shiver
Afraid, the loneliness delivers
Night reflects the time
When love made sense and you were mine
Days collide with night
I hold on so tight
I want you in the worse way

But over and over and over and over
I hear whispers
Over and over and over and over
I hear whispers

I hear whispers
Cries and whispers
Keeping secrets
Always telling lies
I hear whispers
Cries and whispers
Must we always make each other cry

Life sentence of love
I'm changed and bound
But all I hear is the sound of whispers
Behind my back
The walls are thin
I can't help but listen
I can't believe you want to hurt me

Over and over and over and over
I hear whispers
Over and over and over and over
I hear whispers

I hear whispers
Cries and whispers
Keeping secrets
Always telling lies
I hear whispers
Cries and whispers
Must we always make each other cry

Silence is golden
You forgot when you told them
They might come back
And tell me

Over and over and over and over
I hear whispers
Over and over and over and over
I hear whispers

I hear whispers
Cries and whispers
Keeping secrets
Always telling lies
I hear whispers

Cries and whispers
Must we always make each other cry

I hear whispers
Cries and whispers
Keeping secrets
Always telling lies
I hear whispers
Cries and whispers
Must we always make each other cry
