

Lay Down Your Sword and Shield

The Oak Ridge Boys

Lay down, lay down, lay down, lay down your sword and shield
Lay down, lay down, lay down, lay down your sword and shield

I'm so tired of fighting woman
This life is just unreal, (just unreal)
So lay down, lay down, lay down, lay down your sword and shield

We've been so busy fighting for so long
We're bound to lose a love that is so strong

If you take off all of that armor
And just stack it by the bed
You'd be so glad you listened to me when I said

Don't say your wrong but that I'm right
This cold wars getting hot and hard to fight
Well we must love each other
Or we'd never stayed this long (stayed this long)
So lets just take it off and get it on
