

Holiday Surprise 1,2,3

The Olivia Tremor Control spending my last dollar on a hotel and a restaurant sky looks gray but the sky inside is a mighty great one

don't worry
don't worry

taking the time to waste your sunny day
taking the time to waste your sunny day holiday surprise and a bright one at that it's a holiday to last even though we spent the last year in a dream, in a dream

taking the time to waste your sunny day
taking the time to waste your sunny day

imitating you your image floats two feet above the ground i sit down in my seat and wait to take off i can't wait for the oxygen to get thin i twist around in my seat i'm flying like a star (a star taker) taking light from the sky teasing all the people with pictures of you cause it's a holiday surprise ooo-ah

remember the beliefs we had back then said we'd never change our minds but oh, and then again all the dreams were just early plans well please, please

don't you ever change your mind on me
don't you ever change your mind on me

conflict in our heads makes us see without the depth that we used to all of the problems in our way make it so very hard to say well please, please