

The Sylvan Screen

The Olivia Tremor Control

every day i sit and look through my window the cars go back and forth (honk) and seem to never stop no one sees me looking at them from my window and i can be any one of them i want to be and you can come watch with me see the neighbors up and down my street mowing their lawns and raking leaves like you wouldn't believe everyday i sit and look from my window when everything's unclear to me but no one sees me pulling the strings from my window they can play any character i want them to be
and you can come watch with me
it's the best selling book on the sylvan screen
