

Break Your Fall

The Osmonds

If someone ever breaks my heart
It will be you, no one but you
No one else could ever take my heart
No one else but you can break my heart

If someone tears my world apart
It will be you, no one but you
My whole world revolves around your love
I can never live without your love

There's no way that you could care the way I do
Just love me half as much as much as I love you
And I'll be satisfied, if you just try
To love me half as much, to love me half as much

If someone ever breaks my heart
It will be you, no one but you
No one else could ever take my heart
No one else but you could break my heart

My whole world revolves around your love
I could never live with out your love

If someone ever breaks my heart
It will be you, no one but you
No one else could ever take my heart
No one else but you could break my heart