

Both To Blame

The Plot in You

Who do you wanna be?
Who do you wanna be?
Who do you wanna be?
Who do you wanna be?

It never made much sense
I never gave you what you need
Grew a separate way most every day
But I'm happy that you left
And oh it hurt so good
I found solace in regret
And like half the time I'd weigh the crime like you left me your debt
I never thought you would
I never thought you'd pull away
In exchange I was thrown into a better place

(Who do you wanna be)
But I lived to break you
And I want to

To clear your name
We're both to blame
I left you alone with no one
I'm ashamed
It's killing me the things I said
It's so hard to see the clearest in the dread

It never made much sense
There was a wall you couldn't climb
And you failed to see your self-esteem is something you define
And all the good in you, was never my job here to find
So I stayed away so you could take the steps to realize
But I stayed
It robbed us every single day the way we through the things we knew would break
And now, through your hands
I wake the way that I was meant to be
With one who feeds me endlessly

So now, to clear your name
We're both to blame
I left you alone with no one
I'm ashamed
It's killing me the things I said
It's so hard to see the clearest in the dread

I could never put you before myself
You remember the way it made you feel
I was so low I couldn't pull this weight
So you cut through, left me to face my shame

To clear your name
We're both to blame
I left you alone with no one
I'm ashamed
It's killing me the things I said
It's so hard to see the clearest in the dread
