The Plot in You

(Tell me if you feel)
(How do you think I feel?)

Caught me off guard, I was chasing a dream
Feeling like a god, like I'll die if I sleep
I could never fold I was promised a fate
I'll be as your tongue, give me something to say
Tear into me now I don't feel the defeat
Speak if I'm allowed, don't give a fuck if I'm seen
My sickness had ruled me
My fortune erased
No one came before me
They grant me no grace
Don't refuse me now

I can feel your skin
Nothing beneath it
Empty full of spite
Let impulse decide

Render my useless I'm sleepwalking
Hands do no good and you can't stop em
Don't recognize ones who'd die for me
I'll empathize if you stop talking
I remember when I saw the world so clear
Would give up anything if I could pause life there
I don't need a thing, don't need a voice on me
I just need this to stay
Will you

I can feel your skin
Nothing beneath it
Empty full of spite
Let impulse decide
Feel like you'll break me
Like you're replacing
Like you're awake in another reality
Go on and break me
You can't escape these moments alone cus you know I'm the enemy

You fell into me like a trap
I can't let you stay

Release yourself now
We won't make a sound
It's too much to undo
Refuse to consume you

I can feel your skin
Nothing beneath it
Empty full of spite
Let impulse decide
Feel like you'll break me
Go on and break me
