

Fall Again

The Plot in You

Dear friend, I was thinking of you today
6 lines, 4 tries just to hit the vein
When I see your son I break
And hope he shares his mother's strength

'Cause your drip won't go away
Fell in love in a coma state
And my arms had carried you
The same ones will bury too

And we've buried enough
This weight was already just way too much
And your suffering soul (suffering soul)
Was a way to escape the life that you chose

If you fall again, you're on your own
Untied my wrists, I won't sink with them

No tears fell down my face
I was loved in a crooked way
And my fears weren't aimed at you
'Cause you were strung every fucking day

Pray I cover these holes
These holes in your stories
I'm sick of them all
'Cause when the light shines through
All that's left are the memories of you

If you fall again, you're on your own
Untied my wrists, I won't sink with them
And when it's all through
You'll feel the somber truth
Loved ones had pulled away
Did what they had to do, did what they

Did what they had to do
We let you take everything we held dear
Gave nothing in return, so let me make this clear

If you fall again, you're on your own
Untied my wrists, I won't sink with them
And when it's all through
You'll feel the somber truth
Loved ones had pulled away
Did what they had to do