

Happily Ever After

The Poodles

Everything was bright, life was wonderful
With you by my side, there was freedom
Everything ahead, nothing to regret
Chosen for the crown in your kingdom
Irony of faith how I lost my way
The half of me was just taken away

Luck was turning
All I ask is a reason to go on

We should have lived happily ever after
You promised you never let me go
And then we were heading for disaster
To where you have gone I cannot follow
Where daylight never dies

In the dead of night, in the morning light
No matter where I am; what I'm doing
Every breath I take, every move
I make Images of the past always present

Memories calling
All I wish for is one last kiss goodbye

We should have lived happily ever after
You promised you never let me go
Then we were heading for disaster
To where you have gone I cannot follow
Where daylight never dies
