Sea Of Blue

The Pretty Things

It's a sadness, it's a crime Why I wasted so much time All I've got left is sea of blue Holding on, I can't let go If I do, the tears will flow All I could see is a sea of blue

She's the woman I need to love Wearing her heart on my sleeve She's the woman I want you to see 'Cause there's blood on my hands when she leaves

Cries from the street - it's after dark Leaves a silence that's so stark Echoes in the night from a sea of blue

Sea of blue She turns me on like some radio set Keeps me playing every night and day Leaves me on the window sill; she just might forget Some fool might creep up and just come and steal me away

Many days and endless nights That she's filled my life with light Now that she's gone it's a sea of blue Feeling down and I don't know why That my blues should reach the sky All I got left is a sea of blue
