

Genetic Code

The Restarts

Two Milleniums passed plagued with war and hate
A good indication to mankind's present state
A society living in social harmony
A 20th century phallacy

Part of our genetic code- not to get along
Human species- a concept gone very wrong

You get the xmas rush season of good will
The underlying motive is ringing up the til
Emotional pressure is pushing you to the hilt
So drop a penny into the bucket of human guilt
In a world motivated by business finance
You get optimists saying 'give peace a chance'
The fact of the matter lays within your genes
Your just another hateful spiteful human being

Your just another hateful human being
Your just another spiteful human being
Your just another hateful human being
Your just another hateful spiteful human being