

Human

The Score

Am I diseased or am I just over critical?
All I see is someone hypocritical
'Cause I can't be who I want sometimes

Tired of trying to fit into the digital world we made where no one is original
Underneath are the flaws I hide

And I know that I'm worth way more than I show
Put the blame on me,
Put the blame on me

And every scar I earned taught me how to grow
Put your aim on me
Put your aim on me

Cause I am only...
Human to the bone
I make mistakes everybody's messed up sometimes
But it's okay, but it's okay
Somedays I'm alone
So scared of getting old
Taking medicine to ease my mind
But it's okay
Cause I am only human

Disguise my fears with words I'm so cynical
Ups and downs this life is feeling clinical Can't outrun the voice inside
Telling me I'm broken when I'm not
And every days' a battle with my thoughts
Underneath there's a war I fight

And I know that I'm worth way more than I show
Put the blame on me,
Put the blame on me

Cause I am only...
Human to the bone
I make mistakes everybody's messed up sometimes
But it's okay, but it's okay
Somedays I'm alone
So scared of getting old
Taking medicine to ease my mind
But it's okay
Cause I am only human

Bruised but not breaking
Moves I've been making
Tired, now I'm waking up

Fears that I've shaken
Steps that I've taken
Things are looking up
It took awhile to find me

Cause I am only...

Human to the bone
I make mistakes everybody's messed up sometimes
But it's okay, but it's okay
Somedays I'm alone
So scared of getting old
Taking medicine to ease my mind
But it's okay
Cause I am only human