

Dying To See You

The Screaming Jets

I'll make my peace and then let go and let the sea consume my soul the light from my ship fades to black nothing I can do will make it come back Make it come back
All alone at sea on a christmas eve It's not the way I thought the end would be the fear in my eyes wont see the sun
I'm sorry for all the wrong that I've done Wrong I've done
Could you belive that life could go so wrong?
Look at all the hours wasted that you can't have over again
When a second is too long Watch over all the ones that I love
And I'll pray they thing the best of their youngest son
The ocean is getting so strong
I feel so weak and I know it can't be long
I'm dying to see you
I'm dying to see you
