The Swan

The Sheila Divine

If you were there
You'd understand
My culture's frozen in time

Lake Erie howls
it has a spirit
That I can always pull from

You are the grave, that marks my bones You are the vein, that carries my blood You are the swan, but I am your song Your ghost has faded and gone

Yes I escaped
But my past still haunts me
Like the winter wind's gusty shrill

Town by the lake Your path has haulted The snow belt's future's in doubt

You are the grave, that marks my bones You are the vein, that carries my blood You are the swan, but I am your song You are everything that ever went wrong
