Afternoon Tea

The Smithereens

Afternoon tea for a party of one This is the extent of my fun Crying inside for a life thrown away I'm losing my mind in a silent way

Angry at God for what never should be Lovers and others together, not me Take me away when I'm done with my afternoon tea

Afternoon tea as the sun fades away No future plans Here to live day to day One lonely man who is shunned and betrayed I'm telling myself I am strong not afraid

Angry at God for what never should be Lovers and others together, not me Take me away when I'm done with my afternoon tea

Angry at God for what never should be Lovers and others together, not me Take me away when I'm done with my afternoon tea

What have I done to deserve such disgrace? Look at me and you'll see on my face

Angry at God for what never should be Lovers and others together, not me Take me away when I'm done with my afternoon tea
