It's Alright

The Smithereens

Ran into a friend I used to know yesterday
It's all right, it's all right, it's all right
Used to have a lot, but there was nothing to say
Then he said take your time and good night

It's all right if you want to come home
It's all right if you're better alone
Since you left yesterday
Black and white has turned gray
It's all right

Wake up, morning coffee, and there's nothing to say
I am cold in the bed in the night
Had a lot of fun, but that won't change yesterday
Don't you know I still leave on the light?

It's all right if you want to come home
It's all right if you're better alone
Since you left yesterday
Black and white has turned gray
It's all right

The same old story, gotta hear it again
I keep on bringin' you down
It makes no difference what a fool I've been
The world keeps turning around
The world keeps turning around

It's all right if you want to come home
It's all right if you're better alone
Since you left yesterday
Black and white has turned gray
It's all right

Ran into a girl I used to know yesterday
It's all right, it's all right now and then
Used to have a lot, but there was nothing to say
It's all right, it's all right in the end

It's all right if you want to come home
It's all right if you're better alone
Since you left yesterday
Black and white has turned gray
It's all right
