

Pack Your Things And Go

The Softies

where are you off to this time I promise I'm not chasing you no one's demanding your loyalty I just thought that maybe this time I'd come too

just when I need you
you pack your things and go you made promises you didn't always keep but I guess that's what youth is for I give you presents but you throw them all away I've been under the impression that I mattered to you more

just when I need you
you pack your things and go
