

Alternate Ego

The Swan Bride

Sometimes I feel my head explode, my brain is sprayed over the walls
I cannot stand my thoughts inside,
I cannot stand those two guys fight.

All the words that can't be told are trapped within my two-faced soul.
What has happened to me?
The mirror shows my face no more (I see a stranger in there, he says)

Hello, I'm your alternate ego
if you like me, if you don't,
I will be here all night long
let's go to the other side!
let's go to hell!

Midnight, outside on the street,
my head is spinning with an echo of that tune through a black door in the darkest corner of this town
I follow the scent of her perfume.
So many people talking and laughing and drinking to flush away the emptiness of next morning.

Me too, I realize I'll need another drink
The band on stage, ghosts in the cigarette smoke, a quiet sound, just the singer is screaming his lungs out Then she walks into the room stealing every single pair of eyes but she doesn't care, she just listens to that man...

Hello, I'm your alternate ego!
If you like me, if you don't,
I will be here all night long
let's go to the other side!
let's go to hell!

And I would like to hear myself speaking to my ear
you can cross the borders, only tonight!
What the fuck ? ...Who's there?
Well, you can touch the stars...allright!!!

Hello, I'm your alternate ego!
If you like me, if you don't,
I will be here all night long
let's go to the other side!!!