Men Of Destiny

We are the advocates Of a better world We cannot be bargained with only bought or sold.

The technological era Will gain ascendancy We derive our power From pure energy.

The technological era Will modernize our time Progress for everyone Who agrees to tow the line.

We are men of destiny Men of muscle and brain And without men of destiny This planet has no aim.

We await the day of judgement It's not so far away As long as we survive the fall-out Everything will be okay.
