What Do You Live For

I only have to hear your voice I run for the exit Because I know it's leading nowhere And nothing can fix it.

I must admit that I'm surprised How much I used to sympathize But now I keep my feelings mine I don't want to risk it.

I've known all along something's going wrong But the time is right to begin the fight.

What do you live for Why don't you give more What are you here for Why don't you care more.

I hate the way you sell yourself You try to impress The last few years I spent with you Were far from the best Your ignorance is not what I mind But that you show it all the time Why don't we face up to the truth that We're in a mess.

The Twins