

I said prayer, under the stair,
To end my despair
You rolled the dice, looked in my eyes
Now i'm on the mend
I found some faith,
But i had a long long time to wait

I stood there frozen on the shoreline
Watching the world around me swim
Just then the black clouds started forming

These seeds we sow
Watching them sprout
Watching them grow
Like butterflies
When something is born
Something else dies
Your soldier's heart
It would take a lot to break apart

I stood there frozen on the shoreline
Watching the world around me swim
Just then the black clouds started forming

I stood there frozen on the shoreline
Watching the world around me swim
Just then the black clouds started forming
My precious one, you are the light
You are the sun

We're not gonna give out
Not gonna give up
'cos this is the start
