

There Is No Urgency

The War on Drugs

You should have known when you came down here
There is no need, there is no need
There is no urgency

They had your eyes 'neath the cold cold reflection
And in your mind there are pieces that may need connection
After all you have made so many new connections
Don't be so surprised at your friends and their new directions
They will not follow you to the coast
Cause there's trouble down here, there's trouble down there
There's trouble everywhere, there's trouble everywhere
Don'tcha know?

Well don't dare return to the place you were born
By sliding in on golden thrones
And they will not follow you to the coast and back again
They know what's best for them down the road
Cause the pieces in your mind
The pieces in your mind that may need some reconnections
Are the places in your mind you can put all your new decisions
Yeah there's trouble down here, there's trouble down there
There's trouble everywhere, there's trouble everywhere
Don'tcha know?

There is no need, there is no need
There is no urgency
There is no need, there is no need
There is no urgency
There is no need, there is no need
There is no urgency
There is no need, there is no need
There is no urgency
There's trouble down here, there's trouble down there
