

I Don't Know A Thing About Love

The White Buffalo

So many faces in the crowd and counting
Billions that you'll never meet
And of the faces in the world there must be
One for me

So many hearts in the world are pounding
Beating just out of sync
So many hearts in the world are drowning
In a sea of hearts

Oh, show me what love is
Want to get lost in it
Oh, but I don't know a thing about love
No, I don't know a thing about love
Oh, I don't know a thing about love
Do you?

So many eyes in the world are searching
Staring to space like a fool
When looking for love below and above
I can't see you

The grass it grows from the ashes
From the black, the green renews
When it's time to live and love again
I'll find you

You'll show me what love is
Want to get lost in it
Oh, but I don't know a thing about love
No, I don't know a thing about love
Oh, I don't know a thing about love
Do you?

Oh, I don't know a thing about love
No, I don't know a thing about love
Oh, I don't know a thing about love
