He was a clubland caller, he was younger than he felt Settled like a moth down in the east-end Neon belt Well he used to be a believer, Dtil the city got its grip Now if thereDs any holiness left, Well he canDt remember it

She was a high-rise butterfly, crashed in $\square 92$ Into some veiled little suburb that they bulldozed through Where the little fat angels guard the harvest like they should Well its downtown now but it used to be the woods It used to be the woods

And, oh its a lonely little town
And oh, its a lonely little tune
And if my name is on that list I guess IOll see you soon

First he heard her voice and then he saw her face She shone just like a crucifix, an instrument of grace And they got on like children, they got a hotel room They got a new religion, a needle and a spoon

And they gave thanks to the heavens, but the devil held their h ands

And they walked that great divide between Disciples and partisa ns

And the brown and the Bible, they were never quite enough But the life that grew inside her well that felt a bit like lov

felt a bit like love

And, oh its a lonely little town
And oh, its a lonely little tune
And if my name is on that list I guess IOll see you soon
And if my name is on that list I guess IOll see you soon

The seasons are a metronome, the rhythm and the wild The winter took his heart away, the spring it took her child And the honeyed breath of summer is sweet and overgrown But its always autumn sings \square its not too late To find your way back home \square

To find your way back home□

And a bell sometimes reminds them, or the singing in the wind The striking of a match, the smell of Paraffin And some folks are drawn to the flames, and some just want to hide

But the lonely are the prettiest of all, they burn from the ins ide

They burn from the inside

	Yeah, nside	the	lonely	are	the	prettiest	of	all,	they	burn	from	the	i
