Cain, firstborn son of Adam You killed your brother Abel Now you bear the mark of God in your eyes Your eyes Pain is the sing of your symbol And you'll be borne down by the load You will walk forever to live and let die Life is eternal for Cain Bright shine the crime from his mark Some secrets known by his name He taught man handle Gods spark Let the he, let the he goat bear all the old crimes Walk with him to distant east Ride your horse into the desert of Set And meet him, your master Azazel Ride your horse into the desert of Set And meet him, your master Azazel Ride your horse into the desert of Set And meet him, your master Azazel Ride your horse into the desert of Set And meet him, your master Azazel