

Attack Music

These New Puritans

You look around now
You look around now
You look around now
You look around

It was September harmful logic
It was September this is attack music.
It was September harmful logic
It was September this is attack music.
It was September harmful logic
It was September this is attack music.
It was September holy relic
It was September this is attack!

You look around now
You look around now
You look around now
You look around

I'm not an actor, I don't have lines to say
Until I write them all down on this piece of paper

So are you ready, you're on my sound list
Going to war cause of black sounds and black magic

No longer human you are a weapon.
These frozen guns by this guide can't lock

It was September harmful logic
It was September this is attack music.
It was September harmful logic
It was September this is attack music.
It was September harmful logic
It was September this is attack music.
It was September holy relic
It was September this is attack!
It was September holy really
It was September this is attack!
