Beautiful Drug

Thievery Corporation

Oh my love, it's not time for us to say our farewell Not to deny ourselves from ourselves

And with the time the season passes once again Memories that hang in autumn's wind Memories that hang once again

You are the drug in my veins And I'm waiting to feel it again And I'm waiting to feel it again, again

Through the years love radiates throughout life's charade Shines through everything that remains unsaid Shines through everything that remains unsaid

You are the drug in my veins And I'm waiting to feel it again You are the drug in my veins And I'm waiting to feel it again, again

You are the drug in my veins And I'm waiting to feel it again
