

A Point Between Extremes

This Beautiful Republic

My heart is tired of feeling suffering
My mind keeps wondering who I should be

Oh, oh, so alone
Oh, oh, so alone

With no one here for me
I feel so dead
You whispered in the dark
And you said, you said

No, no, never alone
No, no, never alone
No, no, never alone
No, no, never alone

I've been thinking about
The paths that my life has gone down
I've pushed a crown of thorns in my brow
To show my salvation worked out

With all the knowledge I had learned
Anchored to righteousness I'd earned
And now I've gone the other way
Depended too heavily on grace

I need a reprieve
A point between extremes
I need a reprieve
A point between extremes

No, no, never alone
No, no, never alone
No, no, never alone
No, no, never alone

No, no, never alone
(Never alone)
No, no, never alone
(Never alone)
No, no, never alone
(Never alone, never alone)
No, no, never alone

No, no, never alone
No, no, never alone

I need a reprieve
A point between extremes
I need a reprieve
A point between extremes
