

Remember many years ago you thought you never would compromise believe in something no one understood you executed smoothly now you're smoothly executed, aren't you? and now you know how desperation smells from that quickly spawns apologies

It doesn't matter how it sounds but how your eyes would glisten you took the music slowed it down so grandmother would listen I'm not following you down arrangement dedications and dumb down it's complicated, fuck yo u!

I call upon this aging crew, I call out to our friends to resignate those aspirations we knew wouldn't end it pulses deep inside of us and you know what I mean don't you? and now I know how inspiration feels, not how it sells a million records or a platinum on a wall and I won't offer you apologies

It doesn't matter how it sounds but how your eyes would glisten
you took the music slowed it down so grandmother would listen
I'm not following you down arrangement limitations, I'll expect more complications, won't you, wont you?