

Drama Queen

Throne

restless, falling apart, and breathing through toothachesbreaking down from the start won't stop holding on she drowned in a wave out of fear of a falling sun pulled her hair, one by one a thousand queens could tell you, don't fall for a king there's too much too live up to, know your self esteem a thousand queens will warn you, don't live for a dream but who do you look up to?

floating on 9 1/2, while choking on stardust blaming all things above
won't stop holding on
she drowned in a wave out of fear of a falling sun told herself he's the one
a thousand queens could tell you, don't fall for a king
there's too much too live up to, know your self esteem
a thousand queens will warn you, don't live for a dream
but who do you look up to?

'honey I love you too much, and i feel so afraid and I need you, like war on peaceful days'