

There's Always a Loser

Thunder

Sometimes the world's too big
And sometimes that road's too hard
Some fools can rise so easy
When good people can't get a start

There's no guarantee you'll get what you deserve
And it's rarely the meek that inherit the earth
'Cause when the winner's left standing
There's always a loser that falls

If a beautiful face is your ticket
Or your family has blue, blue blood
You could pull up that ladder behind you
Or turn around and help someone up

'Cause I don't believe that you don't give a damn
Sometimes you've got to just reach out your hand
'Cause when the winner's left standing
There's always a loser that falls

You might be a high roller
In a palace in the sun
But turn your back on your brother
Like you don't need anyone
You're gonna start to act lonely
When you're only friend's regret
You might discover
You're the loser yet
