

Live Love Laugh Another Day

Tim McMorris

Don't worry about the past, or all that was Don't worry about mistakes you've made, because
That was yesterday, time to start a new beginning
Change the trend, change the end

Don't worry about the ones who couldn't stay
Or count the cost of loving people who walked away
Don't add up broken pieces, like somehow they'll make you whole
'Cause people cannot keep a piece of you they stole

And don't just live for tomorrow
Or just live in yesterday
Just be glad for all you have that's in today

And though you've come through many obstacles
And shed tears along the way
You're still standing, live, love, laugh, another day

Don't worry about the hopes and dreams you see
But have yet to see them touch reality
Keep on dreaming on, keep on singing that old song
That causes life to rise up whenever it's on

Don't fight with those who try to make you hurt
And try to bring you low down into the dirt
They're just hurting people, doing what hurt people do
And the love they need is actually in you

And don't just live for tomorrow
Or just live in yesterday
Just be glad for all you have that's in today

And though you've come through many obstacles
Shed tears along the way
You're still standing, live, love, laugh, another day

Don't just live for tomorrow
Or just live in yesterday
Just be glad for all you have that's in today, yeah

And though you've come through many obstacles
Shed tears along the way
You're still standing, live, love, laugh, another day

You're still standing, live, love, laugh, another day