Crowing

Toad The Wet Sprocket

Been waiting to find You could've been happier given the time If he'd make up his mind You'd give yourself to anybody Who would cross that line

And it was never a question He was crowing for repair You'd give him love and affection You couldn't keep him there

Get over, regrets
While you were sleeping with the angels
He was under the bed
And the more skin that you shed
The more that the air in your throat will linger
When you call him your friend

And it was never a question He was crowing for repair You'd give him love and affection You couldn't keep him there

Staring at a cold little hand
Reading fault lines of a shell of a man
You were waiting for a word from above
Wouldn't you know it?
No, answer ever did come

And it was never a question You were crowing for repair You'd give him love and affection You couldn't keep him there

And it was never a question You were crowing for repair You'd give him love and affection You couldn't keep him there
