

Too Late

Tom Dice

Too late,
I'll try to forget all the things that happened
You said that I was wrong, thinking that we could always be together

I guess that you were right, right about yourself
You didn't even love me anyway,
but I still love you, even if you slap me every day
I'll do anything if only you would love me forever

It's too late,
trying to call you 'bout the things that happened you won't even listen was I that easy to forget forever?

I guess that you were right, right about yourself
You didn't even love me anyway,
but I still love you, even if you slap me every day I'll do anything if only you would love me forever/were loving me forever you told me I was beautiful, now was that a lie?

I wish I was beautiful,
'cause if I was than maybe I could see your lovely eyes
it's too late
trying to remember all our moments together now what if I was right, right about yourself

maybe you could love me someday
'cause I still love you the dream that I would kiss you today I'll do anything if only you were loving me forever

what if I was right, right about ourselves
maybe you could love me someday
'cause I still love you, the dream that I would kissing you today
I'll do anything, if only you were loving me forever