*Note: (Bluebird insert notes by M.K. Aldin)
(brief & condensed) notes about this song )

Big Bill Broonzy told Tommy not to use the 'n' word.
But he got mad at Bill and said, 'Hell no, I'll Never change my song'. Big Bill said he knew
Tommy was right, the way he felt about it because
He had sang the same words in another song of his
Before Tommy was born but knew better than to do

It in the North...

The next night Big Bill took Tommy to a party, Tommy Sang his version of 'Bottle It Up And Go.' The song flopped
And Big Bill had to put Tommy out the window and they Ran 5 miles to one of Big Bill's friend's house.
