Play It Again, Sam

Tony Bennett

Remember the love song you used to play? The song that you played when I used to sing? Play it again, Sam And then you would play it again, Sam

It's been a few years, Sam But now and then I have a few drinks And remember when

I'd sit here and ask you To play it again and again, Sam The first time I heard it I heard it with her Sam you remember How happy we were Funny what memories That song seems to stir So play it for me In her memory

I've nobody else But myself to blame For kidding myself 'Cause they're all the same Should be a law For what her kind of dame Does to men, Sam

What's over is over I always say I'll just have a drink And be on my way Only came in here to ask you to play it again, and again, and again, and again, and again, Sam
