

Wind Of Change

Tony Martin

I stare at the road, that leads me away from you,
I think of the future, and I may shed a tear or two,
But I feel stronger, cause there's so much more,
Today may be dying, but I've got tomorrow,
Stand in the rising sun, with the wind of change,
No fear of things to come, no hate no blame,
And I don't cry for the days gone by no, I gave all I had to give.

All that I am I gave to you, I loved you too long,
And now there's no love left in me yeah,
All that I was I have changed, so much was wrong,
Now I need to be free yeah.

I have loved you too long, now there's no more love inside of me,
I have given all I can, now there's nothing more that I can give you,
More than this I can't give, more than this I can't live.
I need the wind of change, to fly me through the pain.
More than this I can't give, more than this I can't live,
I need the wind of change, to get me through.

The pain I felt before, I don't feel it any more.
