

Know that nothing's after you
Change it up, it's just a view
Can you visualize?

How can you hold it inside?
Sad how it makes me cry

Made it wherever you are
Every second feels a blur
I turn it off, it turns on
First it was here, now it's gone

Alright I lied when I said that you weren't on my mind
As if I hadn't called, as if you were worried
What is wrong with this world?
It's got me thinking too much

Life got in the way again
(Thinking is a disease)
Black and white images
And all I could do is cry
Oh, how could you hold it inside?
Dare you to say something, say it while they're watching
Scary truth is no one can find what has happened
I don't know what to do

Alright I lied when I said that you weren't on my mind
As if I hadn't called, as if you were worried
What is wrong with this world?
It's got me thinking too much

And I know there's no reason
Why does there have to be?
And I know there's no answer
When I call don't be gone

He's coming now
He's got me laughing
I'm on the floor

No guessing now
I'm in the corner
I can't get up

Don't call me back
Don't get me laughing
I can't shut up

I know there's no reason
Why does there have to be?
And I know there's no answer
When I call don't hang up