

Cowboy's Back in Town

Trace Adkins

Nobody knows where she goes every other weekend
Monday morning she's back at work with a smile on her face again
They ask but she don't tell she's keeping him to her self

He rolls in like a southwest wind hot off of the plains
She needs the love he brings like the desert needed the rain
This high rise life she's living is beginning to get her down
But it's all better now cause her cowboys back in town

So far the way things are works for both of them
He's tried time after time to take her home with him
She says one day she might and it might be tonight

He rolls in like a southwest wind hot off the plains
She needs the love he brings like the desert needed the rain
This high rise life she's living is beginning to get her down
But it's all better now cause her cowboys back in town,
Back in town

It's getting harder to be apart cause that cowboy owns her heart

He rolls in like a southwest wind hot off the plains
She needs the love he brings like the desert needed the rain
This high rise life she's living is beginning to get her down
But it's all better now... so much better now... it's all better now
Cause her cowboys back in town
The cowboys back in town

Nobody knows where she goes every other weekend
Monday morning comes rolling back around... she won't be coming in
