

Wake up, move out
Do what you wanna do and never have a doubt about it
New day, new life
Claim everything you want to see if you've never been without it

New dawn
Isn't it beautiful?
As you are beautiful

Remove, your veil
You hold onto the wisdom, you that woke the wave of contact.
A blink, of an eye,
take a breath as if it's going to be your final moment

Its time you claimed it for your own
Even if it means going alone
The path less travelled will eventually lead you

New dawn
Isn't it beautiful?
As you are beautiful

Within your means
Is what it means
Even if it means
To take it seriously
Seriously

Time you claimed it for your own
Even if it means going alone
The path less travelled will eventually lead you

Death in lies the wisdom of the mother through the eyes the essence of the father
To connect and in the single reflection you raise the vibration that keeps you

Isn't it beautiful?
As you are beautiful