

How To Love

Tynisha Keli

How to love
How to love
How to love
Learn how to love

Seems like we've got our share of differences
We can't even agree to disagree
Talking when we should be listening
So trynna to meet our needs
Is an impossibility
You say (I don't give you respect)
But I say (I'm suffering from neglect)
It's all just the same
No one takes the blame
But the conclusion still will remain

That there's no sense in fighting
About who's wrong or right when
There's no end in sight so
We both need to learn how to love
Maybe there might be
A chance even slightly
If we both agree
We both need to learn how to love

How to love (How to love)
How to love (How to love)
How to love (How to love)
Learn how to love

Seems like we're guarding our hearts again
Trust is the key that we're missing so bad
Protecting our past pains and our scars
Losing our character so we don't know how to act
You say (I don't give you respect)

But I say (I'm suffering from neglect)
It's all just the same
No one takes the blame
And the conclusion still will remain

There's no sense in fighting
About who's wrong or right when
There's no end in sight so
We both need to learn how to love
Maybe there might be
A chance even slightly
If we both agree
We both need to learn how to love

How to love (How to love)
How to love (How to love)
How to love (How to love)
Learn how to love

If we were just learn this one thing
We could both have everything

Respect mutually, love faith and honesty
And we both know

There's no sense in fighting
About who's wrong or right when
There's no end in sight so
We both need to learn how to love
Maybe there might be
A chance even slightly
If we both agreev We both need to learn how to love

How to love (How to love)
How to love (How to love)
How to love (How to love)
Learn how to love
