

Your Inside Out

Tyrone Wells

No amount of makeup could ever take the place of your heart
Every time you wake up I want you just the way that you are
I don't know, I don't know how you could get any better
One look I'm shook babe, but that's not the hook, oh no
That's not what keeps us together

It's more than your body
It's more than the way you smile
All that you are
I love you from your inside out
It's more than your body
It's more than the way you style
All that you are
I love you from your inside out

You're beautiful
And everyone who sees you, knees get weaker
I love you from your inside out
You're beautiful
And every time you speak I'm even deeper
I love you from your inside out

More than once I caught you you thought no one was watching you wishing on stars
Praying for your sister yeah just because you missed her and that's how you are
I don't know, I don't know how you could get any better
One look I'm shook babe, but that's not the hook, oh no
That's not what keeps us together

It's more than your body
It's more than the way you smile
All that you are
I love you from your inside out
It's more than your body
It's more than the way you style
All that you are
I love you from your inside out

You're beautiful
And everyone who sees you, knees get weaker
I love you from your inside out
You're beautiful
And every time you speak I'm even deeper
I love you from your inside out

I know I'm in deep
One look I'm shook babe, but that's not the hook, oh no
That's not what keeps us together

It's more than your body
It's more than the way you smile
All that you are
I love you from your inside out
It's more than your body
It's more than the way you style
All that you are

I love you from your inside out

You're beautiful

And everyone who sees you, knees get weaker

I love you from your inside out

You're beautiful

And every time you speak I'm even deeper

I love you from your inside out

No amount of makeup could ever take the place of your heart