

Take to the streets when there is nowhere to run
Stand up and fight when the talking is done
Give all you've got now you've nothing to give
Who is to decide if you die or you live

Sinners and Saints, phantoms in black
Reason can wait, no turning back

When the wolves attack in the ranks divide
You're the living proof something good survived
When the sun comes up and you're still alive
One voice you stand defiant

Throw off the shackles for one and for all
Beckon the faithful they'll answer your call
Summon the strength now to carry the fight
Order from chaos, from darkness to light

Sinners and Saints, phantoms in black
Reason can wait, no turning back

When the wolves attack in the ranks divide
You're the living proof something good survived
When the sun comes up and you're still alive
One voice you stand defiant

Take to the streets when there is nowhere to run
Stand up and fight when the talking is done

Sinners and Saints, phantoms in black
Reason can wait, no turning back

When the wolves attack in the ranks divide
You're the living proof something good survived
When the sun comes up and you're still alive
One voice you stand defiant
