

open your soul
breath the smoke that brings freedom to you like strandet whales that feel you the truth when they die in the desert of nothingness the color of your heart gives you power to smile like green fields in the sun your spirit drifts into emptyness music is splitted into sounds which then harmonizes and frees your senses entirely the goodness of lust embraces you with the dazzling scent of womanhood she leads you into the wells of your love and takes a bath with you in the secret desires of you mind the world in which you live close it's gates to let you enter into the paradise of yourself