

The Devil has Risen

Unearth

Hell strikes on solid ground give us the strength to hold our home open the wrath again withstood the fight before, been told to leave it all go where i do not know we will stare down the eyes of fire

Like stone we battled the winds beat down and strangled the rains we stood to fight till the end but mother has breached our defense

Keep rising,
the devil is rising,
We lost it all
the devil is rising

It only took five days for the man to come for me i know our faith is strong and belief is all we need it was those lonely nights that tried our hearts it was those lonely nights that tore us apart

And then our faith grew dim it was our solemn sin

Forsaken-in the eyes of fire we lost it all-in the eyes of fire