

More Than A Dream

Unitopia

A journey that takes us to the ends of our lives,
A race never lost, never won.
More than a dream, less than a vision,
Adventure again just begun.

The question that separates man and beast,
In the hearts and minds of the being.
From rich man to poor, famine or feast,
To completeness of thought and feeling.
The search for something, the quest for truth,
The fountain of youth that keeps the traveller alive.

It's a journey that takes us to the ends of our lives,
A race never lost, never won.
More than a dream, less than a vision,
Adventure again just begun.

The answer is found within each heart,
It's alive and calculating.
Look to the finish which gives us the start,
The beginning of wisdom fulfilling.
The search for something, the quest for truth,
The fountain of youth that keeps the traveller alive.

It's a journey that takes us to the ends of our lives,
A race never lost, never won.
More than a dream, (we share together) less than a vision,
Adventure again just begun.

Love is all I see, and all I see is within you.
All I feel is within you.
And you by my side the path is complete.