Before the Creation of Time

Before the creation of time When nothingness was all And a fiery star's implosion Caused the universe to fall Worlds in utter chaos and plague Were doomed to die at last Vanished in the blackest void A recreation of the past Before the creation of time When emptyness was all Utter darkness enlights the way To the surrounding walls Journey through what mustn't be seen To where no life dwells Wisdom of the first creation No one shall live to tell Before the creation of time When nothingness was all And a blazing star's implosion Caused the universe to fall Memories of a frozen time beyond There's nothing left to show A new creation soon to be unleashed In the shadowed depths below Goodbye mother earth...
